Defendant-Appellee.

Appeal from the United States District Court

Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990, 42 U.S.C. § 12101, et seq. ("ADA"). Jackson also claimed intentional infliction of emotional distress. After comprehensive discovery, Shield Coat moved for summary judgment and the district court granted that motion.

We have carefully reviewed the briefs, the record excerpts and relevant portions of the summary judgment record itself. For the reasons stated by the district court in its Order and Reasons filed under date of September 17, 1997, we are persuaded that the Final Judgment against Jackson entered under date of September 17, 1997, should be, and the same is hereby, AFFIRMED.
